

Pennywort Team

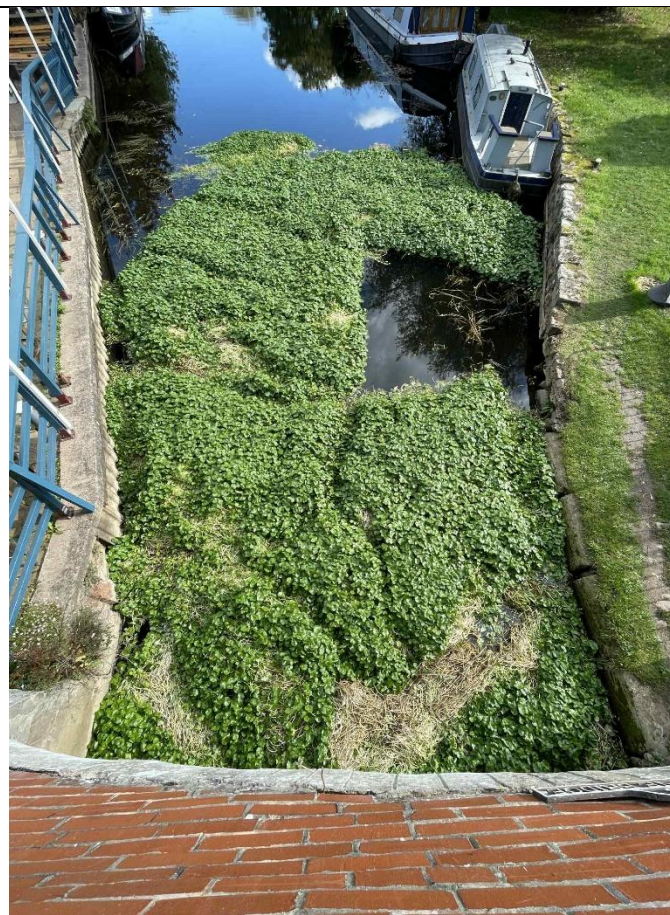

Date: Wednesday 1st October

Slightly late with this report, but Wednesday afternoon we cleared a huge amount of Pennywort out of the canal near Deep Lock.

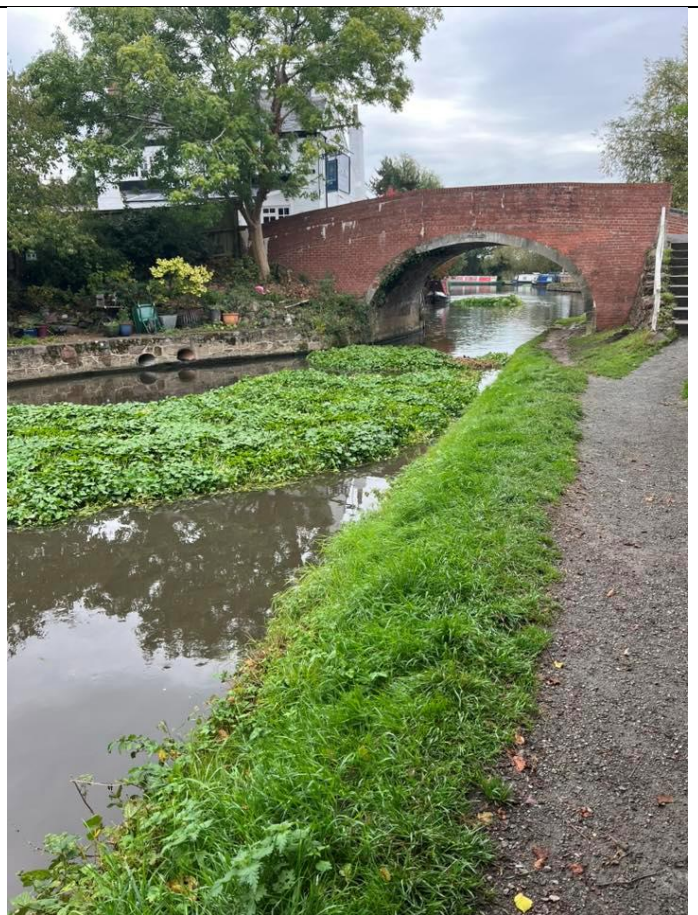

Huge mats had got locked together under the bridge at The Navi until a boat went thru in the morning. The mats dispersed and made their way downstream. Some went straight thru the lock gates but a few got stuck.

One huge mat took us forever to remove as it was like lasagne - with so many layers of weed on top of each other - however much we took out - it never got smaller. With more floating down we did have to stop as we were all pretty exhausted.

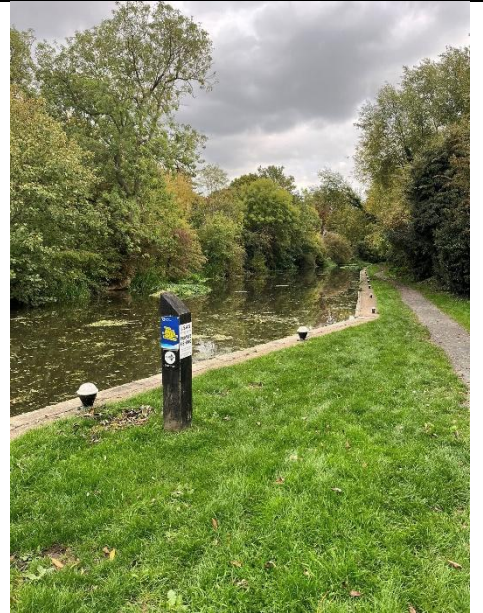

Thanks team - Karen, Brian and Ian

Stuck under the bridge

Just starting to float down

Huge mats waiting for us at Deep Lock

Cleared for now but more on the way
