

Pennywort Team

Date: Thursday 21st August 2025

Earlier in the evening pulling the smaller mats in

After a few weeks off with holiday commitments our volunteers were keen to get back out on the water tonight for another round of Pennywort clearance.

After a fairly 'easy' start from Deep Lock we then came across a lose floating mat outside of The Navi. It was a bit of a big one and we were very pleased when Liam, who was about to go for a paddle himself stopped and offered to help bring it in. The more hands the better!

Thanks to the team tonight Glen and Linny in the canoe, Karen, Brian, and Ian on the land, and Liam of course.

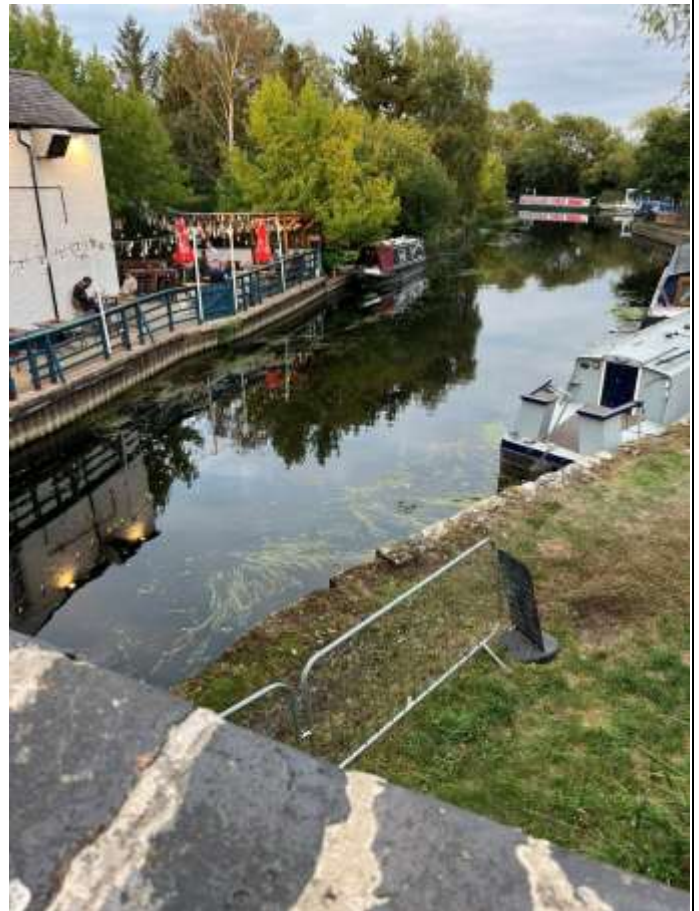

Before - The mat floating lose by The Navi

Karen with Linny - in the canoe!

Mat free for now

Pulling the mat in - great view from the water
