

Tree of the Month

March 2021

Is awarded by Wild About Barrow to

Paper Birch (Betula papyrifera)

23 Cotes Road

For its graceful shape with light airy foliage, multiple stems of striking white peeling bark and yellow autumn leaves

Look out for tree sparrows and siskins which this native of Northern North America attracts.

Birch trees are fast growing and, as one of the first to colonise land after the last ice age, is called a pioneer species. These trees can produce a million winged seeds each year!

Contact wildaboutbarrow@gmail.com for your suggestion for another month